IHA Promotes Janice Queener to Director of Family Medicine Division

ANN ARBOR, Mich. – (Dec. 6, 2011) – IHA, the region’s leading physician group practice, is pleased to announce the promotion of Janice Queener to the position of Director of Family Medicine Division. Queener joined IHA in February 2009 as the Practice Manager for IHA Brighton Family Care, and since then she has been an invaluable asset to the organization. Not only has she mastered the complex operations of one of IHA’s largest and busiest practices, but Queener and her team have been identified by many across the organization as the “training ground” for many new staff. “In addition to Janice’s drive for results, she is known for her team approach, excellent communication skills and creative problem solving abilities; all of which made her a perfect match for this opportunity,” said Cindy Elliott, Executive Vice President and COO for IHA.

Prior to joining IHA, Queener managed two dental practices in the Ann Arbor area and also served in a marketing and sales position with a large dental equipment company. She earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Marketing and Sales from Ferris State University. Queener lives in Brighton.

This promotion will take effect in January 2012, at which point Queener will assume the operational and organization management duties for all eight of IHA's family medicine practices across Lenawee, Livingston, Washtenaw, and Wayne Counties. "With the growth of the organization and opportunities that lie ahead, I am thrilled to partner with Janice on the continuing development of the family medicine division," noted Robert Breakey, MD, IHA's Family Medicine Division Head & IHA Board Chairman.
